We believe that all children can learn and we will establish high standards of learning that we expect all students to achieve. It is our job to create an environment in our classrooms that engages students in academic work that results in a high level of achievement. We are confident that with our support and help students can master challenging curricula, and we expect them to do so. We are prepared to work collaboratively with colleagues, students and parents to achieve this shared educational purpose. (Dufor, 1997a).

From Your Principal

Dear Lincoln Elementary Families,

It is hard to believe we are already nearing the end of the first semester. Students are doing a good job showing ROAR and meeting academic standards. I have had the pleasure of visiting classrooms, and it has been so much fun observing all of the wonderful learning opportunities and experiences taking place at Lincoln Elementary. Please encourage your children to continue to exercise their minds during winter break. Reading together and playing games as a family are great ways to practice reading and math skills. I wish you a very happy and safe winter break!

Fondly,

Logan Williams
Principal

ATTENDANCE is still a priority, even during the Holiday Season

Research shows that kids who miss too much time in the primary school years may struggle more later in school. Your child will be absent or tardy less if you:
-Organize school supplies ahead of time. Mornings are too rushed to sign permission slips, fill out forms and review schoolwork. Do these tasks in the evening.
-Emphasize bedtime and morning routines. Stick to a regular, reasonable sleep schedule to make mornings easier. Doing things in the same order each day (wake, brush teeth, get dressed, etc.) builds kids self-discipline.
